

Medical Parasitology

Time - table for the 1st years students

(4 – years program)

The Medical Parasitology integrated course, starts on 09th October (Monday, 8.15-9.45), in the Gruca Hall, 4 Lindleya Street.

The rest of classes will be held in the Department of Medical Biology, 73 Nowogrodzka Street.

Day	Date	Hours	Date	Hours
Monday	09.10.2017	8 ¹⁵ -9 ⁴⁵	16.10.2017	8 ¹⁵ -9 ⁴⁵
Tuesday	10.10.2017	11 ¹⁵ -14 ¹⁵	17.10.2017	11 ¹⁵ -14 ³⁰
Wednesday	11.10.2017	Day off	18.10.2017	11 ³⁰ -15 ⁰⁰
Thursday	12.10.2017	11 ³⁰ -15 ¹⁵	19.10.2017	11 ³⁰ -14 ⁰⁰
Friday	13.10.2017	8 ⁰⁰ -9 ⁴⁵	20.10.2017	8 ⁰⁰ -9 ⁴⁵

Important:

- to regularly document the laboratory work students should be provided with the “Medical Parasitology student’s workbook” (parts: 1, 2 and 3, the recent edition of the Medical University of Warsaw);
- in accordance with the specific safety precautions, students should always carry a laboratory coat that will be used exclusively during these classes.

Dr Marcin Padzik (marcin.padzik@wum.edu.pl) - Curricular affairs

Dr hab. Gabriela Oledzka (gabriela.oledzka@wum.edu.pl) - Head of the Department of Medical Biology

Seminar topics:

- 1) Toxoplasmosis in pregnancy;
- 2) Malaria – epidemiology, symptoms and possible prevention;
- 3) Free-Living Amoebae infections;
- 4) Schistosomiasis (Bilharziasis)– epidemiology, symptoms and possible prevention;
- 5) Echinococcosis – epidemiology, symptoms and diagnostics;
- 6) Human filarioses - epidemiology, symptoms and possible prevention;
- 7) Most common soil transmitted helminths (STH);
- 8) Most common food-borne parasitoses;
- 9) Most common childhood parasitoses;
- 10) Beneficial parasites and possible parasitic therapies;
- 11) Human vaccines for parasitic diseases – current state of art.

Seminar presentations should be saved only in “.pdf” or “.ppt/.pptx” format and provided to the teacher at least 1 day prior to presentation. All students in the seminar group have to participate in the presentation preparation and everyone has to present in front of audience. Seminar assignment and presentation agenda will be managed at the first meeting.